

Florida Board of education officially supported the introduction of a new theory of evolution, writes

Florida Board of education officially supported the introduction of a new theory of evolution, writes Wired. The Council adopted the proposed curriculum which replaced the traditional all mention of evolution, only one phrase Scientific theory of evolution. Up to this point in schools of Florida was not taught evolution as one of the subjects she's not even listed in the curriculum but the decision of the Council made the amendments to the school curricula. It was quite expected that representatives of state education will certainly approve the new standards. November-12 schools passed a resolution stating that the theory of evolution should be taught as something alternative religious-Orthodox explanation of life. Apart from the fact that it's illegal teaching of creationism as science simply is a bad idea. Students are unlikely to learn the theory of evolution at an early age. This decision is shocking news for Florida and for the nation as a whole. In Texas, teaching evolution began last year and the revision of the curriculum is planned only this year. Together, Texas and Florida have enough power to encourage other States to begin to practice the Scientific theory of evolution in schools across the country. read more Popularity 7% In the town of Stephenville Texas where after dark, the sky is usually clear and starlit residents say about the extraordinary phenomenon that he had seen a UFO. Some say that he had seen chasing the object beams writes Yahoo. A lot of people insist they saw a huge silent object with quick bright shining rays at the bottom. All concerned about what it could be because I believe that the appearance of this object could mark the end of the world. Federal authorities claim that all this has a logical explanation and the residents of this city, in turn, insist that the object was much longer besshumno faster than a plane and flying very low above the ground. Mechanic Ricky Sorrells Ricky Sorrells said that his friends laughed at him when he said he saw a flat metallic object hovering at 9144 meters above the pasture in front of his house in Dublin. But after reading about UFOs seen in Texas, he decided not to remain silent. Sorrels says that he observed this object several times using a telescopic lens and described it as almost cast without any seams, bolts, screws object. read more Popularity 7% The threat of global warming has caused many changes. A striking example is Texas. This state showed the greatest interest in the construction of new nuclear reactors and may be the largest platform for the construction of plants for the development of nuclear energy. Corporations such as NRG Energy, Energy Future Holdings

Link to article:: Florida Board of education officially supported the introduction of a new theory of evolution, writes